Acorn Park - Weekly Roundup

Good afternoon everyone,

The sun has been shining and there has been plenty of colour onsite today! As you'll see from the photos below.

Next week is national Neurodiversity week, for those of you new to this word... It is a way to refer to the natural differences in the way our brains work. To mark this occasion, we are encouraging our students to think of words or phrases that identify who they are, we will do work on this in class, but would welcome ideas and thoughts from parents/ carers too.

On March 18th it is Child Exploitation (CE) Awareness day. On this day parents are invited to send their child in wearing something purple (the colour of the campaign). We would like to flag up the signs of CE to parents as it isn't an 'everyday term'. Feel free to have a look at this short video that highlights the importance of awareness - #Lookcloser to protect children from exploitation.

We have some events coming up (please see our events page for details):

25th March – Parent/ Carer community group - Norwich

25th March – 6th Form open evening (please register your interest in the event details if you are planning on coming along).

28th March - Parent/ Carer community group – Lowestoft

4th April – Easter and Ofsted celebration (event put on today). We have reached out to taxi companies about an earlier finish, so please complete the form in the event details to help us identify where taxis are still needed.

This week we've had trips to the chocolate factory ahead of our Easter celebration, a trip to the cinema and a fantastic game of football (today) with lots of the team getting involved!

I hope you enjoy the video of the journey of Gustave the Giraffe! A special thanks to Paula R For putting this incredible project together!

Student Stars

Care:

Leo V - has been reading books to his friends and supported them with transitioning by holding hands. Leo has offered a friend a hug when they have been upset.

Strive:

Poppy K - has tried her hardest to improve her work in maths lessons.
Frankie S - for making a huge effort to improve his relationships with his peers.

Grow:

Tia ES - has been a superstar managing her emotions and making positive choices, through a tricky week.
Isaac W - has been so brave these past two weeks, he has worked really hard to communicate how he feels with the adults and talk about his feelings.

Thrive:

Huey W - has completed all of his learning with great enthusiasm and has given every new challenge a go this week to produce some brilliant work.
William B - has participated extremely well this week and been full of enthusiasm.

Wishing you all a lovely weekend,
Adam
